AMUSEMENTS.

Few, if any, players have gained so much prominence as that fasci-nating little actress, Dainty May Sargent, who will be seen at the Grand Opera House on next Friday night, and who graduated at the Rideau St. Convent, in Ottawa, Canada, where she was a student for three or four years and President of the English Girl's Dramatic Entertainments. Miss Sargent made her professional debut with Madam Modjeska, and is now scoring heavily in "Other People's Money." The following tribute was paid her by a prominent American newspaper critic on her performance in this

"To see her is to love her, And to love her but forever, For nature made her what she is

play last season:

And ne'er made sic anither. Doubtless the many friends and admirers of Miss Sargent will read with interess her success since she left Ottawa. She comes of an old theatrical family. Her father, Harry M. Sargent, brought Madame Rhea to America and managed her suc-cessful tours, and was afterwards a prominent lessee of a theatre in England. Her mother was an accomplished actress and appeared with Madame Modjeska several seasons. Miss Sargent appears in the role of "Tielka Van Sittant," and her gowns are said to be the epitome of her modiste's (Madame Giannie, of New York City,) skill.

CLOVER IS VALUABLE.

M Is Not Only an Excellent Food for Swine But Also the Best of Land Feeders.

One of the grasses that will prove beneficial and profitable to every farmer who can grow it is clover. It is not only an excellent food for swine for both health and growth, but it is a land feeder or fertilizer, says a writer in American Swineherd. But few farmers understand the advantages that come from growing clover outside of its feeding value. The productiveness of the farm can be maintained or improved by the growing of clover. Every farmer should exert himself to provide fields of clover. It is not only a good hog feed, but it is equally as good for sheep and cattle, and the very best hay for young calves. A good many farmers have used clover hay for feeding hogs in winter season, running it through a cutter and mixing it into a thick slop as a balancer of the ration and distender of the stomach, preventing compacting of the concentrated feeds. The advantages of clover as a food are that they give the pigs that succulence that is so desirable to provide the smooth coats and rapid growth that come from feeding it. It is a balancer of the ration of grain, which cheapens the feed and lessens the cost of producing pork. It is not only good for the feed value, but because of the advantages in combining it with a grain ration which enables more to be got from the grain than otherwise would. Besides the growth and gain that comes from feeding it, is the fact that it is highly relished by the swine and productive of better health. It keeps the bowels in good order, prevents constipation, and is, therefore, a very valuable hog feed.

ALWAYS BE REGULAR.

A Point in Hog Feeding Whose Importance is Not as Well Understood as It Should Be.

To be most successful at raising hogs we should feed regularly, not one day early in the morning and the next day in the middle of the forenoon. No matter how many times a day nor what we feed, let it be at the same hours every day. It is natural for a hog to rest at night time, and digestion and assimilation of food will go on better if they are fed regularly and before dark.

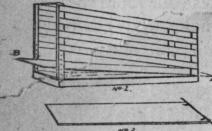

There are a great many farmers who think "a hog is a hog" and of little consequence as far as profit is concerned, hence they let him "root hog or die," and if he does not do as well as they expect, or as well as the hogs of their neighbors, they blame the breed or the one who sold them the pigs, never taking into consideration that, if they had given the hog a show, fed him with some regularity and on such food as would have kept his system in good condition, he would have been a profitable animal. As a hog grows older and heavier, it requires not only more food to make a pound of gain, but more to sustain the weight | SPARROWS ARE SMART BIRDS. that it already has. So, if not gaining, hands as soon as possible.

In feeding hogs the important point is to give just enough and no more. This sometimes may be a little difficult to do. What is eaten up clean, with indication that, if more were given, it would be eaten, is the test of what is just the right quantity. A little careful observation will soon make the test easily understood. - Midland armer

Record in Sheep Growing. A Missouri sheep grower has made a record which stands near the top, if it is not ahead of all others. Spring before last his 43 Shropshire ewes Gropping 85 lambs, among which were seven sets of triplets, 28 sets of twins and eight single lambs. He lost six by death and killed two for his personal use. The remaining 77 lambs were det run on wheat and other pasture last fall, and later were fed on about 20 bushels of corn, to put them in marketable condition. When sold they averaged 103 pounds each, and were reported "fat as butter," selling at $625, the highest price in a year or more at Kancity.-Wool, Markets and Sheep.

EVERYBODY GOT A PRIZE.

Novel Euchre Party, Which Ended Satisfactorily to Everybody Who Had Played.

The Long Island society, Daughters of the Revolution, enjoys the distinction of having conducted a progressive euchre contest, at which every one present received a prize and everybody was satisfied, says the Brooklyn Eagle.

The company was mainly confined to members of the society, and in the cards issued for the occasion the request was made that each one desiring to participate would contribute a prize not to exceed in value 25 cents. Although the price limitation Main Street, - Paris, Ky. was not strictly adhered to, the souvenirs were for the most part of articles of femine use or for ornament. The players, according to the number of games they had scored, made their selection at haphazard from a collection of paper enveloped articles. The fun came when the voluminous wrappings were removed and a hat pin, a bondon dish, coffee spoon, tray, photo frame, book, bit of china, top or trinket was disclosed. Considerable igenuity was displayed in wrapping up the prizes, so that no hint was given of the contents of the package. The cleverest bit of deception in this way was the of deception in this way was the inclosing bonbon dish in a cracker box bearing the name of a popular brand and looking as if the original brand and looking as if the original ar Louisville 10 30am 8 00pm contents had never been disturbed.

CENSUS COMPARISONS.

Cost of Securing Information Something Over a Century Ago and at Present Time.

The differences between the cost of securing the returns from the six simple questions asked in 1790, and that of the extended inquiry made a century later, is illustrated by the per capita cost, which in 1790 was 1.13 Frankfort & Cincinnati Railway. cents, and in 1900 15.5 cents, says Director W. R. Merriam, in "The Evolution of Census-Taking" in Century. In 1790 Virginia was the most populous state in the union, having 747,610 inhabitants. The records of the treasury department show that at the first census the cost of making the enumeration in that state was $7,553.90. Moreover, at that enumeration the underpaid assistant marshals supplied their own blanks, an item which was of considerable importance in the days when all paper was made laboriously by hand. In 1900 the population of Maine - about 700,000-most nearly approximated that of Virginia in 1790. At the twelfth census the cost of actual enumeration in Maine, including the pay of supervisors, was $34,560.90, or more than three-fourths of the or more than three-fourths of the amount expended for the enumeration RETWEEN FRANKFORT & CINCI of the entire United States in 1790, though the pay of an enumerator in 1900 did not exceed the wages of an intelligent day laborer.

Thousands of Farms Reclaimed from the Arid Lands of the West.

The far-reaching plans for irrigation of the arid west through the assistance of the powerful national government are slowly turning into facts, says the Minneapolis Journal. Recently a contract was let for a dam across the Snake river in Idaho that, with two large main ditches, will reclaim 340,000 acres of fertile land. It is well known that a 40acre irrigated farm is equivalent in production to a 160-acre nonirrigated reclamation will provide 8,500 farms, or, probably, homes for about 50,000 people, and the villages and cities will have from 25,000 to 50,000 more. And all this will come from the watering of only 340,000 acres! And before Uncle Sam is through with his big job he will turn water onto 100,-

DYE THEIR OWN PRODUCT.

Silkworms of Various Shades Developed by Recent Experiments in France.

The following report is made by United States Consul Atwell at Roubaix: Messrs. Conte and Levrat have recently been making experiments with silkworms, which have resulted, it is said, in the production of cocoons of varied shades, reports the Philadelphia Record.

The ordinary cocoon is white, yellow, or sometimes green. The question to be solved is why different colors should be produced by similar species, and whether it is the direct result of the food taken by the worm. If this coloring matter comes from the leaves fed to the worms, Messrs. Conte and Levrat considered that it should be easy to color their food artificially and thus secure different shades of cocoons, though several naturalists have attempted to prove the impossibility of coloring matter good story to forget under the cirpassing from the intestines of the worm into the silk-producing glands.

The worms which served for their experiments were placed on branches grape to the doctrine of metempsyof privet, washed over with red. chosis, They ate the leaves without prejudice, and when the larvae began to spin the cocoon the silk was a bright red. When fed on leaves colored blue, the silk worms produced a slightly bluish silk. The species that produces ordinarily a yellow cocoon, when fed upon leaves colored red, brings forth a deep orange. The original yellow, it is said, is due to the pigment in the leaves of the mulberry.

FAST RAILROAD TALKERS.

Tell About Swift Rides on the Rall and "Hit It Up" at a

A group of railroad men in New Orleans were talking about the fastest rides they ever experienced, says the Times-Democrat. One man in relating his experiences, said: "Across bayous and through marshes we rushed like mad. When we reached the Rigolets the most remarkable guest being tied behind her. thing I ever saw took place. The train was traveling so fast it sucked the water up behind it as it rushed across the trestle, and I could hear the fishes groan as we flew over this neck of the gulf. BLUE JAYS HUNT SNAKES.

The Birds Have a Very Strong Antipathy Toward All Venomous Reptiles.

It is commonly supposed that all birds, at least those of the small species, fall easy victims to snakes. There are stories innumerable of the manner in which the reptiles charm the feathered creatures and end by swallowing them at a gulp. But there is one bird that is not susceptible to the fascination of his snakeship's eye, and that is the common blue jay, found in the woods all over the United States, says the Chicago Chronicle.

A gentleman who has lived for many years in the country asserts positively that the blue jay can speak at least one word as plainly as a human being Yor first time; 50 cents per inch each and that word is "snake." "When a boy," he said recently, "I killed many Some species of reptiles will climb small trees and bushes and trap their prey in that manner. They feed on small birds principally. But they never catch a jaybird. He is the snake detective for the whole bird family. As soon as a blue jay sees a snake he sounds the alarm. You can hear him squall a quarter of a mile, and he articulates the word 'snake' as plainly as I can. He will hop about on a limb and yell 'snake! snake!' in such a others of his tribe hasten to the scene, and all join in giving the alarm. All other birds, hearing this warning cry, fly away, but the blue jay splits his throat with cries until the enemy has disappeared.

"A snake once caught a blue jay by charming him. The jay yelled 'Snake! snake!' at the top of his voice. Several hundred blue jays flew to his rescue and pecked the snake's eyes out, and literally picked him to pieces, thus saving the life of their companion. Ever since that time the blue jay, upon seeing a snake, gives the alarm and all blue jays within hearing will hasten to the scent and lend their voices to the warning. This may sound incred-ulous, but it's true," said the narrator in conclusion. "Not at all, but it's a cumstances," added the nervous young man, who at once proposed the consideration of the relation of the jocund

A NOTICE.

The women of Central Kentucky have been led to expect much from Kaufman, Straus & Co. in the matter of Tailor-Made Dresses-and rightly.

We have taught our public to look for lavish variety in Fine, Ready-to-Wear Garments. This season, we, ourselves, are astonished at the assemblage presented. Perhaps we have been carried too far by our enthusiasm over the fine things we have found.

In order to introduce these goods sheedily and effectively, we have decided to offer them below their actual value at the very beginning of this season, and thus get our patrons to judge for themselves of the superiority of these fine goods.

The Suits and Dresses we are showing represent the very newest and swellest designs; none of them in the house over fen days, yet they will be reduced to the following prices:

It is a comparatively simple task to apply insect exterminators to a small patch of potatoes or other growing vegetables, but when the work must be done on a large scale to protect a field covering acres of ground the cost of the operation often absorbs the profit of the crop. The reservoir for containing the poison is sealed after the powder or liquid has been placed inside, and an air compressor geared to one of the wheels forces air into the reservoir and out through the spraying nozzles. If a powder is used the movement of the air inside the chamber sets the dust afloat and blows it out through the pipes, while a liquid can be driven out by compression. A safety valve is provided to reduce the force should the air pressure inside the chamber become too high or the compressor may be disconnected for a time.-Louisville Courier-Journal.

FREE TRIPS TO ST. LOUIS YOUR & FAIR

ALL EXPENSES OF THE 120 MOST POPULAR SCHOOL TEACHERS IN THE STATE PAID.

School children and public generally invited to vote to determine the most popular in every county. Votes that cents each, ten cast at one time. All money over and above trip expenses of teachers to go into erection of the Kentucky Building at the Exposition. Every voter thus given the satisfaction of knowing a worthy cause and important object have been aided, at the same time a favorite teacher has received recognition. Contest conducted under anspices of Educational Exhibit. Committee of Kentucky Exhibit. Association, the organization formed to raise $100,000 for a Kentucky Building and full display of the State's products and resources at the Pair, the Lerislature having failed to make an appropriation. Every educator in the State, whether teacher in public or private schools, or tall or theological institution.

member of faculty of academy, college or university, medical, dental or theological institution, protestant or catholic denominational school, is eligible to election. Members of the Educational Exhibit Committee alone excepted.

Names of all school children voting to be enrolled in the Kentucky Building at the Exposition. Kentucky will have an educational exhibit occupying 2,500 square feet of space in the Palace of Education. The Exposition is to be the greatest international event in the world's history. The 120 teachers chosen will be lucky indeed in being tendered this trip to the Fair. Every county elegts its own most popular educator. The county outside of Jefferson casting the largest number of votes will be allowed to send two teachers—the most popular and the second most popular.

THE VOTES WILL BE TEN CENTS EACH, TEN CONSTITUTING A BALLOT.

Attendents each every school child in the State will be able to cast at least one vote for his or her tavorite teacher. But the voting will not be confined to school children.

PARENTS OF PUPILS OR ANY OF THEIR FRIENDS MAY VOTE. The purpose of the Association being to elect the most popular school teacher in each county, as so considered by the public generally, as well as by the school children. Builots contain ten spaces, so clubs of ten pupils may be arranged and each giving ten cents be credited with his or her vote. If one person desires to cast the votes, it may be done by writing his or her name on one of the spaces and remitting one dollar. It is not required that the name of the person voting be given at all. All of the spaces for voters' names may be left blank. The Association wants, however, to enroll in the Kentucky Building at St. Louis next year the name of every child who cart one or more votes in the contest. Pupils are asked therefore to sign their names plainly to the ballots.

ALL EXPENSES OF THE TEACHERS WILL BE PAID by the Association. This will include railroad transportation from Louisville to St. Louis and return, board at one of the best hotels in the city for six days and admission to the exposition grounds for six days.

THREE PARTIES WILL BE MADE UP FROM THE MOST POPULAR TEACHERS to make the trip more profitable and more enjoyable. Each of these parties will consist of forty (40) teachers. This would make a total of 120 teachers, but as there are only 119 counties in Kentucky, the Association has decided to allow two teachers—the most popular and the second most popular—to go from that county—Jefferson excepted—which casts the greatest number of votes in the contest.

REMEMBER EVERY COUNTY ELECTS ITS OWN FAVORITE TEACHER. Competition between counties only applies to the race for the 120th trip, the county, outside of Jefferson, casting the largest total number of votes being granted the distinction of sending two teachers.

The result will be announced in every paper in the state, and, in addition to this, a congratulatory message will go to the teacher elected in each county. Later the details of the trip will be arranged, each teacher chosen being given the privilege of selecting the month—June, July or August, 1904—in which he or she wants to make the trip.

Judge E. H. hayer, Clinton, Ia., has just writte a letter to Col. Brownlow in with he unhesitatingly approves all t provisions of the bill, and says at he was the presiding officer the first national good roads countion ever held in this country, Chago, Ill., 1892. Judge Thayer made speech at that convention in with he presented a proposition that is practically identical with that unning through the Brownlow bill. Among other things he said:

"The constitution provides that 'Congress shallhave the power to establish post dices and post roads.' It has appropriated millions of dollars from the ublic treasury for establishing posoffices, but in the last half of the entury it has appropriated compratively nothing for establishing st roads. There is not an inhabitantof Iowa but is entitled to have his mail brought to his home, no mater whether he lives in the country r in the city. It is gratifying to know that the free delivery system is bing extended to the small towns although the postmaster general writes that 'enlarging free deliveryor anything like universal free divery will have to be postponed util there are better facilities of communication through the rural ad sparsely settled districts.' Jus so. But must the state and the couty and the township be required tomake those better facilities by the expenditure of vast sums of money, ind then invite the government to put mail carriers on them? The cannot be the meaning of the costitution. To establish post roads must mean something in any respect. more than merely using the roads for postal service after somebody else has built them.

"The older states contributed no lands to the common national fund; a portion of government expenses which all the states alike ought to have contributed to. When the west, wild after railroads, and congress donated almost 5,000,000 acres of the best land the sun ever shown upon to help build those roads in this state, had there been the same interstate then asked for a similar safety. amount of lands for road purposes, no doubt congress would have complied with the request. For precisely the same object, but more directly in the interest of the state, let Iowa appeal to congress for an appropriation equivalent to the donation made to the railroads."

A woods dinner is the most pleasing feature of the occasion-bacon, chicken, broiled on a spit before a fragrant fire; Irish potatoes and the real, old fashioned red the farmhouse.

Three Curious Words.

Filibuster, freebooter and buccaneer are words curiously interrelated. The French and the English sea adventurers once made common cause against Spanish settlements in the new world, and all three of these words came in time to describe the rude sea soldiers who despoiled the Spanish main and the towns upon the coasts of the Spanish possessions. Filibuster is said to be the result of an attempt to make a French word of freebooter, and the English borrowed it back from the French because it sounded less frankly

Buccaneer was originally French in form, and it meant at first one who hunted the boucan or wild cattle and hogs of the West Indies; then one who made jerked meat of their flesh, and finally, because this meat was used to provision the ships of the sea rovers, a filibuster or freebooter.

Hunting the Wild Boar.

In Germany the boar hunt occurs annually. Trained hounds are held in leash until the lair of the boars is sniffed, and then they are let go. Off rush the bristling beasts. They run fast, and the faster they skip along the wilder and "madder" they get. Sometimes they are shot, but the correct style of killing is to use a long spear or a short swordlike knife. The hunter spies his boarship speeding along in an almost straight line, blinded with rage and ferocity. Bending over sideways to the earth, the sportsman thrusts his spear duil end downward in the soil and the sharp point slanting upward and turned directly to the boar's path. Straight on the wild hog rushes, and with all the impetus of his long flight he plunges upon the spear point and there, impaled, dies a bloody death.

"leh Dien" or "Eich Dyn."

"Ich dien," the motto which belongs translated "I serve," and tradition has it that it was taken by the Black blind king of Bohemia, who was killed on the field of Crecy. It is a notable fact, however, that the late Dr. Wiltiam Ihne, professor of English literature at Heidelberg, rejected this theory. He held that the motto was of Welsh origin and took its rise at the time when Edward I. presented his newborn eldest son to the Welsh chieftains at Carnarban castle as their future sovereign. He held the child up in his arms and exclaimed in Welsh, "Eich dyn," meaning "this is your man." The explanation is accepted by many antiquarians.

Hats In London.

No stranger can do business in London without a silk hat. It is the style from Monday to Saturday to wear this kind of head covering, with a frock coat, and on Sunday to appear in a "boulder" (the conventional derby) and a sack. Cutaways are much worn with men are seen in the outlandish combination of silk hat and sack .- New York Press.

How Ships Are Named.

French ships are usually named after French provinces or towns, victories, ideas or sentiments, but no French names, excepting those of great men in their history, are made use of. German ships bear the names of German rivers, ports, poets, states and characters in German literature. Spanish ships are almost invariably named after their cities or great commanders.
